

Eating after Myotomy Surgery

These guidelines can help you get better after surgery.

We also give you 2 booklets:

- Preparing for Your Surgery
- Myotomy Surgery

Read both booklets carefully.

Introduction

You had surgery (called myotomy). You should feel less pain because food and liquids can move more easily from your esophagus into your stomach.

As you recover, you progress through different diet textures. What you eat changes depending on how you recover and how well you tolerate food.

Your dietitian helps you with food and fluid choices while you are in the hospital.

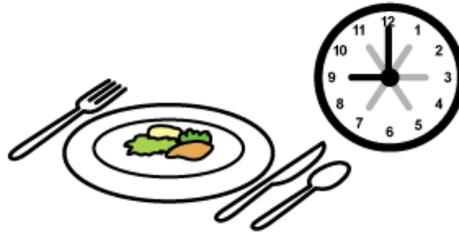

You might eat a full fluid or soft food diet when you leave the hospital. Your surgeon tells you which diet to follow. Follow this diet until you see your surgeon in about 2 weeks.

General Guidelines

To reduce discomfort

- Try new foods one at a time.
If they cause discomfort, try them again another day.
- Try foods that are soft and moist.
Stay away from sticky or gummy foods and foods that are harder to swallow (such as breads, bagels, rice, tough meats, raw fruits and vegetables).
- Eat small, frequent meals (6 to 8 small meals a day).
This helps you get all the nutrients you need and keeps you from making your stomach too full. A small meal is no more than 2 cups of food—less if you feel full.

Small frequent meals

- Eat slowly. Take small bites. Chew your food well. This helps you swallow and digest your food.
- Drink most of your fluids between meals.

Drink  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup (0.5 cup) of fluid with meals.

Drink 1 cup of fluid with snacks.

- Always eat sitting up. Stay sitting up for 30 minutes after eating. Do not lie down for at least 1 hour after eating or drinking. If you can, don't eat or drink for 2 hours before bedtime.

When you have too much gas, your stomach can feel full and you can have discomfort or pain.

To keep from getting gas

- Choose foods and drinks that do not give you gas. Stay away from foods and drinks like broccoli, beans, lentils, cabbage, cauliflower, onions, peas, and carbonated drinks.
- Drink straight from the cup or glass. Don't use a straw.
- Don't chew gum.
- Try not to put more gas into your stomach. Don't swallow air.
- Try not to smoke because smoking can give you gas and tobacco products can delay healing.

To keep from getting constipated

- Add fibre to your diet gradually. Examples of foods high in fibre include hot cereals and prune juice.
- Drink at least 6 to 8 cups of every day (unless you have been told differently because of a medical condition).

Full Fluid Diet

Your surgeon tells you when it is safe to start eating solids. Use this table to know what full fluids you can have until then.
