Your doctor has ordered your intravenous medication to continue until this date:

What you can expect

- You will have a special intravenous (IV) device put in place at Surrey Memorial Hospital. We arrange this.
- Once you have the device in place:
 - You and your support person learn how to give the medication safely at home.
 - You, with help from your support person, give yourself the medication through the device at home.
 - You must go for a blood test every week.
 - The company called Calea regularly delivers your medicine and supplies to your home, arranged by us.
- Your care team of doctors, pharmacists, and nurses, work with you throughout your recovery.

What you need to do

- Go for your weekly blood test every Sunday or Monday. You must do this so the doctor and pharmacist can see if this treatment is working for you.
- Continue to come to Medical Daycare for treatment until we arrange everything needed for giving the medication at home.
- Organize someone to be your support person. This person can join you for teaching sessions if you wish.
- Call the Intravenous Nurse if:
 - You need to reschedule your x-ray or imaging appointment.
 - You, or your support person, have questions or concerns.

Note: Call the Intravenous Nurse as soon as possible, if you are admitted to the hospital during this time. We will coordinate your treatment with your care team in the hospital.

How to schedule your blood test

Before you book, ask the Intravenous Nurse where you are to go. Depending on the medication, you schedule appointments either at a LifeLab near you or at one of our Outpatient Labs.

☐ LifeLabs

- Create an account in MyCareCompass system (bc.mycarecompass.lifelabs.com).
- Book your appointment.

☐ Fraser Health Outpatient Laboratory

- Create an account in the Outpatient Laboratory Online Booking System (labonlinebooking.ca).
- Not able go online? Call 1-888-442-5227
- Book your appointment. Choose a city in Fraser Health.
